

Getting Involved in Undergraduate RESEARCH in The Arts & Humanities

Did you know that research in the Arts & Humanities disciplines also includes scholarship and creative activity? This workshop is designed to increase the involvement and participation in undergraduate research in the arts & humanities disciplines. Come find out what research could look like in your discipline, such as writing plays, art history, journalism, creative music composition, dance choreography, or other human productions. Learn how you can get started and get connected with a faculty mentor!
