QUESTIONS TO HELP DETERMINE WHETHER AN EMPLOYEE HAS DISABILITY

A "reasonable accommodation" is a modification or adjustment to a job, the work environment, or the way things usually are done, that enables a qualified individual with a disability to enjoy an equal employment opportunity. - Any mental or psychological disorder such as an intellectual disability, organic brain syndrome, emotional or mental illness, and specific learning disabilities.
- The disorder or condition is considered:
    - In its active state, even if presently in remission. (Examples: epilepsy, MS, asthma, cancer, bipolar disorder.)
    - Without regard to the effects of mitigating measures such as prostheses, medication, etc. except ordinary eyeglasses.
    - With consideration of the negative effects of treatment such as medication or other measures.
